Sonnet 87
 Written by William Shakespeare

Farewell! thou art too dear for my possessing,
 And like enough thou know'st thy estimate:
 The charter of thy worth gives thee releasing;
 My bonds in thee are all determinate.
 For how do I hold thee but by thy granting?
 And for that riches where is my deserving?
 The cause of this fair gift in me is wanting,
 And so my patent back again is swerving.
 Thyself thou gav'st, thy own worth then not knowing,
 Or me, to whom thou gav'st it, else mistaking;
 So thy great love upon my prison growing,
 Comes home on me again, on better judgment making.
 Thus I have sworn I had thee as a dream
 Of night, but waking no such matter.
